

Summer Reading Challenge

For this challenge, you need to try and complete each square of the grid before starting school in September.

To complete a square of the grid, you need to read something that matches with what is in that square. Then you fill out the square with the ✍ title of the text, 👤 the author and the 📅 date that you read it.

The texts you read don't just have to be stories. They can be stories, poems, newspaper articles, online articles, text books, history books, leaflets or any other type of text.

I've read a text...

that mentions the seaside/
the sea/oceans/voyages...

that includes a cliffhanger...

that talks about recycling
and using less plastics...

importance of a healthy diet...

about a famous Mathematician...

that is a War Poem...
